

Johnson Denies Bias After Radio Speech Using Jewish Dialect

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK.—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson declared in his syndicated column that there was no anti-Semitic intent in his Election-eve radio speech which provoked sharp protests.

Gen. Johnson said he was "astounded" that part of the speech was considered anti-Semitic or that it was considered as implying that the Jews were warmongers. Stating the Jews had shown "extraordinary self-control in not urging any country to war upon Hitler," he added that "as I search my soul and view my record I could not have meant that Jews desire to drag America into war."

In his speech, Gen. Johnson had resorted to Jewish dialect to bring home a point and charged that virtually all American Jews favored a Roosevelt reelection in the hope it would bring about a war against Hitler.

Quoting a speech in the Congressional Record by Senator Rush Holt, Gen. Johnson said Holt "also revealed that the Army is surveying the whole American markets for coffins for your dead. When he queried, the military acknowledged it, but a Major Ginsberg answered him in effect: 'Vy not? In an army of a million men, they might fall off trucks.'"

Taking up Roosevelt's charge anti-American and anti-Christian forces were at work in the Republican campaign, Gen. Johnson said "of our non-Christian group, 95 per cent are for Roosevelt because, in righteous indignation for Hitler's terrible persecution of their kinsmen, they think he will lead us into war against the anti-Jew and anti-Christ Hitler."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Jewish Post solicits letters from its readers. All letters, however, must be signed, otherwise they will not be considered.

Mr. Strauss Comments On The Federation Election

To the Editor,

I presume that you are overjoyed at the evidence of the so-called democratic method of voting at our community election. I must admit that I am not.

The net result of last week's meeting was that a very valuable member of the board of the Federation was dropped. I am referring to Leo Traugott, who has been head of the Budget Committee; has been vitally interested in Federation affairs, and has been regular in his attendance. He has also been outspoken at all times when his good judgment has been most constructive.

In principle, I think your contention is right, that self-perpetuation is not desired. Contrast, however, the difference between a slate that has been prepared after a thorough canvass by a nominating committee with the method that prevailed last night.

I have no fault to find with the addition of a new man—I know him and I think he is very capable—but I do feel that the loss was much greater than the gain. I do not believe that 25 per cent of the people present knew anything about the qualities of any of the people that appeared on the ballot. I imagine that most of the voting was done by personal acquaintance and in some cases by blind marking, because I am sure that one-third of the candidates were. The fact that the people did not even know who Mr. Traugott's name, listed in alphabetical order came last, seems to me the reason he was left out. Evidently there was some preparation in advance and when those who intended to vote for candidates proposed by independent petition had gone down the list as far as they could, they simply skipped the last name, or last few names, in order to vote for the independent candidates.

As I said before, I agree with the principle of democratic institutions but I also believe that principle should be tempered with intelligence.

Mr. Traugott is a much more valuable member of the board of directors than I am. I do not know whether such a procedure would be possible, but if I can resign from the board with the assurance that Leo Traugott will take my place I shall do so gladly, because I think that the organization will be the gainer.

Yours very truly,

L. A. STRAUSS.

Rabbi Charry Tells About Adult Education

To the Editor:

I take this opportunity and this means of announcing a very important matter which I am sure will be of interest, not only to members of the Beth El Zedeck Congregation, but to the entire community.

GOING TO TAMPA, FLA.?

For many years we have been deeply concerned with the problem of adult Jewish education. It must be obvious that we can never attain to an intelligent laity and an intelligent Jewish leadership unless the members of the community have a solid background of Jewish learning and Jewish culture. Accordingly, we at Beth El have for a number of years conducted classes for adults. In these efforts we have always had the closest cooperation of the Jewish Education Association.

This year the matter of adult Jewish education has become established largely through the efforts of the Jewish Theological Seminary. There has been set up a National Academy for Adult Jewish Studies which has not only developed a series of courses, but which is also prepared to grant credits for studies pursued over a course of several years. Beth El Zedeck Congregation has become an affiliate of the National Academy, and this year we shall again offer courses to our membership and the community. A nominal registration fee is all that is required of any adult member of the community to join these courses.

The course begins early in December, and we are planning to have classes in "Beginners' Hebrew," "The Prayer Book" and its contents, "The Bible," "Jewish History" and a special course in the "Background and Meaning of Conservative Judaism." We invite enrollment. Any adult member of the community may enroll at once by calling Beth El Zedeck Temple, TA. 5196, and a card will be sent when the classes officially begin. Meetings will be held on Tuesday evenings.

Again, as in the past, we have the complete cooperation of the Jewish Education Association.

RABBI ELIAS CHARRY.

ALLEY TRASH

By JACK FALK

Our bowling session last Sunday morning at the usual meeting place, the Parkway Recreation Alleys at 34th and Illinois Streets, was one of the best of the season. Thirty enthusiastic pin men reported. Saul Koby emerged the winner of the Aridex moisture-proof sports jacket, donated by Edgar Fassburg, and the man was actually elated over the feat, as his daughter was an inspirational witness.

Next week, Phil Stern will offer a neat prize of a pair of bowling shoes. Someone will certainly get a few "kicks" out of that win!!

Sam Mantel, the league's traveling prima donna, was back on a furlough last week, so was enabled to participate in the competition. His lack of correct practicing was manifested in his mediocre scoring. Thank goodness, his law practice rates favorable comment!

Sid Herwitz, the proud proprietor of the new Essex Hosiery Shop at 148 West Washington Street, will be donor of the prize on November 24. Will some good Samaritan volunteer to contribute a suitable article as prize for Sunday, Dec. 1? (Larman Bros., please note.)

As soon as it is possible to organize a representative five-man team, a picked squad will book games with outside quintets for special matches. All "good men" are eligible! If some business concern will see fit to supply emblems or shirts for our team, it will be more than appreciated.

The annual B'nai B'rith Bowling tournament has been scheduled for Detroit, Mich., Feb. 16, and plans will be made to send up as many teams as possible. Do you want to go?

There are no dues but an assessment of 50 cents per meeting is made to cover the cost of refreshments. Meetings are held the second Sunday of each month.

GIRLS' ROOM REDECORATED

The long-awaited furnishing of the Girls Lounges at Kirshbaum has at last been effected. The room will be used for girls assemblies, meetings, and for programs of the Symphonic Hour.

It has long been felt that such a room, devoted exclusively for girls activities, has been needed.

The Editor's Chair:

I had just about decided to let well enough alone in connection with the election last week to the boards of the Jewish Federation and the Jewish Welfare Fund, when I received the letter from Mr. Leonard Strauss printed in the "Freedom of the Press" column in this issue.

The meeting and what transpired was very distasteful to me. I knew what was going to happen, and I did what I could to avoid it, but it happened anyway. The two nominations were made by one individual on Friday morning, the very last day in which nominations could be entered; and, whether deliberately or not, too late for publication in The Post. When these two names were put up, despite my promise not to take a hand in the election this year, I rushed out and secured a petition nominating Sam Kroot, who undoubtedly would have made a good addition to the Federation board. I then called Mr. Hyman and suggested that he use the daily press to announce to the community that three nominations had been made by petition. He didn't see the necessity for this, so nothing was done.

The election was "stacked." That is, the friends of two of the nominations made by petition were rounded up for the meeting. This is a democratic process, and although I had said publicly in this column that I hoped no one would attempt such a tactic, I cannot denounce it.

As to the election itself, I would compare it with what happened at the J. C. C. A. election this spring. At that time, the names of all the nominees, whether made by nominating committee or the membership at large, were listed on the ballots alphabetically. At the Federation meeting, the names were listed in two groupings, and in addition Mr. Hyman read off the names of the persons making the nominations and the petitioners. This latter practice was utterly indefensible, in my estimation.

There were other points in connection with the voting, most of which arose from the fact that this was the first time in years that there was actual voting for the board members, which should, and probably will, be corrected next year. On the whole, I think the election was a salutary and healthy procedure.

I would not, however, agree if the choice were left to me with Mr. Strauss' suggestion that Mr. Traugott be allowed to assume his place on the Federation, although I understand the high-minded reasons which motivated the thought.

What Makes The Communities Go Around

IF YOU want to find out what makes Jewish communities go around, then don't fail to attend the sessions this Saturday and Sunday of the Jewish community centers (one convention) and the Jewish Welfare Funds and Federations (second convention). Of conventions of all Jewish organizations, only this one this week-end is on The Post's "must" list. In Louisville in 1938 Edgar Kaufman and Max Lerner highlighted the sessions, in Akron last year the representatives of the "big four" winced before the attack of the irate delegates, and this year, it is said, some "hot" sessions are being cooked up. Mr. and Mrs. Indianapolis and Indiana, this is your chance to find out why the community funds do this, why the community centers are run this way, and why our annual drives do this or that.

Should We Continue To Buy Land In Palestine?

WE WERE walking down the campus at Bloomington when he suddenly asked me, "What are the Zionists going to do about Palestine now?"

"What would you expect them to do," I replied, "lay down and quit, just because they are confronted with difficulties? They're going to fight on as long as they can fight."

Evidently my answer surprised him. He is the national secretary of one of the leading Jewish campus organizations in the United States. For then he posed a question which evidently from the tone of his voice he thought I would have to answer in the negative.

"Do you mean that we should still send money to buy land there?"

His questioning definitely pointed to a misunderstanding of the entire philosophy and enthusiasm of the Zionism movement. And no doubt these same doubting thoughts are entering the minds of Jews all over. What follows should be said, and said once for all, so that there can be no misunderstanding.

A real exposition of the Zionist position would take columns, but here are the salient points.

Zionism is not of the moment. Not of 1940, or 1920, or 1950. It is as old as the Dispersion and will continue until the Jews have a homeland. If the Nazi war machine drives into Palestine, Zionism will start all over. But how Jews can be driven off their own land permanently is still a very mooted question.

If Hitler defeats England all will be black for everybody, not only Jews, yet no one has argued that we should desert England because the Nazis are attacking it.

Then there is that inner something which people who see Zionism in dollars and cents always overlook, and in the end, because they ignored this most important factor, see their reasoning controverted.

Zionism has always had to fight. It is not easy today, in November, 1940, but who can say that the road was smooth in November, 1939, or how about November, 1916, the year before the issuance of the Balfour Declaration?

But in the fight, in the will to win, lies the real answer to my friend's question, "Shall we continue to buy land in Palestine?" Certainly buy land. If the world goes under, if civilization goes by the way, Palestine goes too. But if the world doesn't go under, if civilization pulls through the present crisis, it will partly be because of the type of fighting will displayed by the Zionists. Do you think the spirit of the man who asks shall we desert our co-religionists, shall we pass on the word to them that we are quitting, do you think that this willingness to surrender will defeat Hitlerism?

Double Tragedy

A FEW months ago word was received by the many friends of the Sam Hantmans, former residents of Terre Haute and well known over the state, of Mr. Hantman's sudden passing away in Danville, Ill. Tuesday the message came that Mrs. Sam Hantman's only child, a son, Harry Hantman, was killed in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Hantman exemplifies the finest type of Jewish womanhood. Her husband and her son have left her the heritage of a good and honored name.—Sara Messing Stern.

Current Comment

Fate of Palestine Should the German and British Drive in the Near East Grow More Widespread Explained to Hadassah Convention by Dr. Nahum Goldmann—If the Jews ask what will happen to Palestine, the only possible and natural answer is this: Whatever may happen, Jews will never be expelled from Palestine. Because in order to expel a people from a country, they will have to consent to it, at least passively. Even though almost anything imaginable may happen in Palestine in the next few weeks or months in these revolutionary times, it is unthinkable, even if the worst were to come to pass, that the Jews in Palestine will take to boats and leave the country. They will fight for their position in that country. They may be outnumbered. They may be overpowered and defeated. But they will go on fighting—they will never be expelled.

Statement on General Hugh Johnson Issued by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise—Many Americans, non-Jewish as well as Jewish, regretted some things which General Johnson, in the heat of the election campaign, took occasion to say, particularly in his World-Telegram column. Jews were naturally most disturbed over the charge, almost explicit, of General Johnson that Jews were war-mongers and were in fact seeking to move our country to go to war against Hitler. Whatever the unwisdom and the inaccuracy of such a statement, I am glad to bear testimony that General Johnson has done a manly and even valiant thing by offering "An Explanation" in today's issue of the World-Telegram. General Johnson virtually says, searching his own soul, as he puts it, and reviewing his own record, that he knows better than that Jews are war-mongers, that Jews have most to lose and least to gain by war and that American Jews are, above all, Americans and always for peace.

I welcome General Johnson's explanation. That which provoked it is forgotten, but unforgotten is the splendid defense of the Jew by General Johnson upon a number of occasions in recent years, when he spoke forth with characteristic vigor and gusto against anti-Semitism and all other anti-Democratic devices. Jews can afford to ignore things said and did in the heat of a presidential election, but we cannot afford to forget the service of faithful friends, even when they lapse into the utterance or writing of things which seem unworthy of them.

General Jewish Council Aggravates Situation, Louis Lipsky Says—Of course, it is foolish to speak of an American Jewry—"what is American Jewry going to do?" There are about five million Jews in the United States. We have many organizations, varied interests, communities, groups within groups, but no central organ that assumes collective responsibility for those affairs that concern all Jews. There are no accepted traditions, no accepted policy in any field of interest. There are many organizations, but no organization. There are many leaders, but no leadership. There are many plans, but no plan. Looking at American Jewish life as a whole, it is no exaggeration to say that it reflects a perfect picture of anarchy.

It might have been expected that at least in the field of defense, the whole world toppling over our ears, all Jews equally touched, there would be a coming together of all forces and interests and the creation of an effective united front. Nothing of the sort has transpired. Two and a half years ago a General Jewish Council was formed of our leading defense agencies, but not only has the council spent its time in futile discussion, quibbling over jurisdiction and programs, deliberately avoiding responsibility, but actually the existence of an impotent council has stimulated division and separatism, augmented the prevailing anarchy.
